Shaky truce between school boards will get test Tuesday

A shaky truce which nominally ended hostilities between the Amarillo and Canyon school boards last month will get its first test Tuesday night.

A request by an Amarillo development group for de-annexation of a half-section of property from the Canyon district is expected to put the uneasy detente to its first test since both boards informally confirmed in late May what were presented as guidelines for future de-annexation and annexation efforts.

Canyon Supt. Jerry Jacobs said Thursday a petition is to be presented by B.R. Barfield, representative of a development group in Amarillo, seeking de-annexation of a half-section of land just north of the Estacado Estates subdivision from the Canyon district for annexation by the Amarillo district.

Jacobs indicated Thursday he may have some strong reservations about accepting the petition. They are essentially the same reservations he expressed in a May 17 joint meeting between the Amarillo and Canyon school boards.

He noted that the land for which a petition will be presented is located just south of Hillside, a street listed in guidelines informally accepted by both boards in May as the southern demarcation line for future annexations.

"Without talking with anyone else on this, the so-called imaginary line of Hillside I think is a pretty good line," Jacobs said.

If the half-section to be petitioned for de-annexation Tuesday night is annexed by the Amarillo district, the north Canyon ISD boundary line in that area would be just north of Estacado Estates.

The petition will be presented asking that a majority of Canyon School Board members sign it, a step necessary under state law which requires that without school board signatures the land in question must be peopled by a specific number of students.

Jacobs has contended both during the May 17 meeting and more recently that the guidelines informally agreed to by both boards in May should be viewed as having application to any and all de-annexation cases.

He has said the intent of the Canyon board in adopting the guidelines was to limit future annexation efforts by Amarillo to those specifically outlined in the negotiated agreement. Other requests for de-annexation, he has said, should be given a negative response from both school boards.

The Amarillo board, however, took a different view of the guidelines in May. Several board members reiterated that the Amarillo board's stated policy is to encourage developers to de-annex their property from the Canyon district for annexation by the Amarillo district.

That policy, according to statements made by Amarillo Board Member Pete Dallas at the May meeting, would not be altered by the guidelines.

Jacobs said Thursday the developers of the section in question Tuesday night have agreed to put up about $200 per acre if the land is de-annexed, in keeping with a policy established earlier this year by the CISD board. The funds, according to the board, are to compensate the Canyon district for future losses of tax revenues due to de-annexations.

The guidelines informally agreed to in May are prefaced with the statement that the guidelines are not legally binding.

But, they do state that Canyon board will consider de-annexation petitions on a case-by-case basis if

(a) the area sought to be detached lies north of Hillside or a westerly extension of Hillside and contains at least 320 acres or close thereto and is contiguous to the Amarillo district.

(b) the petition complies with the requirements of the statute as it may then exist, and

(c) in those instances that Canyon deems it necessary to have some compensation for the tax revenue lost as the result of the detachment Canyon and the developer reach agreement upon a sum which the developer will pay and Canyon will accept as compensation for the tax revenues lost by reason of the detachment.

"Where these pre-requisites have been met to Canyon's satisfaction and Canyon has accordingly approved the application, a majority of the trustees of (CISD) will join in signing the application," the guidelines say.

In addition to the discussion of the Barfield petition, Canyon board members are expected to take action Tuesday night to speed up the annual budget-making process this year to expedite the sale of $2.5 million in bonds voted last month for construction of a new elementary school and remodeling of Canyon High School.

Jacobs said if the bonds are to be sold by late July, the school business staff must complete the proposed 1976-77 budget by July 10. By that date, too, he said, the board must have set the tax rate for next year.

Jacobs said the need for speed in selling the bonds is to save possible higher interest rate charges which are anticipated this fall.

Discussion is also expected Tuesday night on a timetable for construction of the new proposed elementary school, which will be built at Sundown and Western in the north part of the district.

The board is to meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the school administration building in downtown Canyon.

Decision on suit expected

Randall County officials hope they'll learn this week whether they'll take up the legal gauntlet on home soil to defend the county's participation in the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Rick Wilcox presented the 7th Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo an appeal asking that Randall County be separated as a defendant in a lawsuit filed last year in 47th District Court and he hopes the appeals court will rule on the appeal Monday.

The appeal is of a ruling made Feb. 19 by 47th Dist. Judge Bryan Poff that Randall County was a necessary part of the lawsuit filed by more than a dozen area residents against various governmental entities over participation in the PRPC. He denied a plea of privilege filed by Randall County to have the suit transferred to this county.

During the same hearing, Poff deleted Berger from the list of defendants in the suit but added the State of Texas to the list. He also set a deadline of March 1 for the plaintiffs to perfect pleadings.

The plaintiffs, two of whom live in Randall County, filed their amended petition on March 5, after the original deadline.

Wilcox said plaintiffs in the case have argued in their petitions that participation in the regional planning commission is unconstitutional and illegal because the Texas constitution prohibits the consolidation of functions or offices of government within one county without a vote of the people.

Defendants have contended, he said, that the pleading is too vague to respond to and have asked that the charge be elaborated upon.

Plaintiffs' petitions filed March 5 do not elaborate on the pleading and Wilcox said defendants have, as a result, asked for a summary judgment in favor of dismissal of the suit.

Briefs on the latter were to be filed with Judge Poff Friday.

'TEXAS' season begins Wednesday

Thousands of tourists, as well as folks from throughout the Texas Panhandle, are expected to attend one or more performances during the bicentennial summer season of the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS."

The eleventh season for the musical drama will officially open Wednesday evening, June 16, with nightly performances throughout the summer at 8:30 p.m. CDST. Performances are held nightly except Sundays with a special Sunday performance featuring fireworks scheduled for the evening of July 4 during the bicentennial season.

As "TEXAS" first show of '76 unfolds Wednesday evening, representatives of the 40 original West Texas ranches will be seated in an honor section for the evening and will be wearing their "brands" for the occasion. In a special recognition ceremony, spokesman for the ranching group will be JA Ranch representative, Monte Richie, the grandson of Mrs. Cornelia Adair, who was Colonel Charles Good-night's ranching partner. The JA Ranch has been in the same family and operated under the same brand since its founding in 1876.

Also honored in the opening night audience will be area entrants who have received honorable mention in the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation sponsored art contest. Works on the theme of "Memories" will be judged Wednesday afternoon at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon with the winners of best of show and first place being awarded plaques at the opening show.

Receiving honorable mentions and due to receive accolades on opening night will be painters: Mrs. Gene Clayton of Claude, David Beck of Amarillo, Mrs. Hulan Hill of Tulsa, Sammie Goodwin of Clarendon, Roberta Gragg of Amarillo, Ruth McNaughton of Plainview, Ellen McCoy, of Amarillo and Mary Moody of Happy. Photographers named for honorable mention in the competition finals are Julia Taylor, Herb Hutchins, Clyde Stickley, Marilyn Kay Haessly and Glenda Stickley, all of Amarillo, Gary Billingsley of Hereford, Dan McNaughton of Plainview and Mike Jones of Canyon.

Winners of the "Memories" contest will be from among the honorable mention finalists listed. The winning entries will be on exhibit at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon through July 25.

Written by Pulitzer Prize winning playwright Paul Green, the musical romance was first introduced to Canyon during the 1966 season and since that time has received worldwide recognition.

The playwright, now 82 years of age, is a native of North Carolina and won the 1927 Pulitzer Prize in drama. He is the author of seven other historical plays presented in outdoor settings. His play "TEXAS" has been voted the top tourist attraction in the nation twice by the National Association of Travel Organizations and also received the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedom Foundation for promotion of the American Way of life.

Arranging musical scores for the musical romance was Isaac Van Grove, who has collaborated with Paul Green on four other outdoor historical dramas, including "The Stephen Foster Story" now in its 16th year at Bardstown, Kentucky; "Trumpet in the Land" in its fifth season at

County spent $95,000 more than it took in during 1975

Randall County spent $95,000 more than it took in last year, the 1975 outside audit report completed last week shows.

The audit of 1975, performed by Doshier, Pickens and Francis of Amarillo, shows the county offices went nearly $100,000 over their budget, which had been projected to have a $31,900 surplus at the close of 1975.

The audit was turned over to County Judge Woody Pond Thursday. County commissioners at a future meeting will hear the official audit report and consider approval.

Revenues for 1975 failed to meet the level anticipated by commissioners in last year's budget and expenditures went far above the commissioners' projections for the year.

Revenues for 1975 totalled $1,375,537. Commissioners had budgeted on the basis of anticipated revenues of $1,403,063. The audit report indicates ad valorem tax income for the year failed to meet the anticipated income from that source in the 1975 budget by about $4,000. Budgeted income from adult probation fees, which are collected by Potter County and returned to Randall, fell short in the actual income column by about $27,000.

The audit report shows that every county office, except one, overspent the 1975 budget. Actual expenditures for the year totalled $1,470,743, well above the $1,371,100 budgeted by commissioners.

The audit report indicates the county began the year with a balance of $25,555 in the county's general revenue sharing account, an account fed by federal funds. During the year the county received $111,553 in the account and spent $112,000, primarily for financing construction of the new South Amarillo courthouse annex.

County offices, their actual expenditures and budgeted disbursements for 1975 are:

County commissioners last week said they will adopt a tough-line stand this year as they begin to enforce restraints in the 1976-77 budget.

They indicated they will hold county office-holders to spending within the budget limits established prior to the beginning of the Oct. 1 fiscal year.

Parade entries needed for 3rd

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is planning a parade to highlight this year's July 4th celebration, but unless interest picks up it may be the shortest parade in history.

Roland Black, manager of the chamber, said last week only 15 entries have been received for the parade, which is scheduled to run through downtown Canyon to Conner Park on July 3 during the special Bicentennial Canyon Days Celebration.

And now he's encouraging any-and-everyone who desires to participate in the parade to do so with a Bicentennial or patriotic theme.

Last year's Canyon Days parade attracted 75 entries, but Black said the list has been cut this year because so many out-of-town organizations and groups are planning to stay home this year to participate in other July 3 events.

Any entry, from bicyclists to horseback riders, is welcome in the parade, Black said, noting that space had been allocated for several Canyon first graders who participated in a special May parade here.

Those desiring to enter the parade should contact Black before June 30.

Chamber directors are scheduled to discuss the parade as well as lay final plans for the special bicentennial celebration (See PARADE, Page 5)

Woman escapes injury as car falls into canyon

A Hereford woman escaped serious injury Thursday evening when her car tumbled 350 feet into Palo Duro Canyon.

The accident was the third with injuries reported to Texas Department of Public Safety officials in Canyon during the day

Thursday. A vehicle-related accident reported Wednesday resulted in the death of a Randall County hog feedlot operator.

Mrs. Susan Malone, 23, suffered a deep cut on her right index finger that required about 10 stitches when her vehicle plunged to the floor of Palo Duro Canyon State Park about 6 p.m. Thursday, according to Park Superintendent Elton Baker.

The car went over the edge of the canyon from a lookout point near the gate. Apparently, it rolled over only once, demolishing the vehicle, Baker said.

Mrs. Malone had stopped at the lookout point about 5:45 p.m. and after about 15 minutes backed her car from the ledge to leave, he said. She changed her mind, though, drove forward again into her former position and applied the brakes. The brakes failed to hold and she rolled forward off the cliff, Baker said.

A call to Canyon for an ambulance and rescue squad was cancelled and Mrs. Malone was taken by private car for treatment.

A feedlot operator in the northwestern portion of Randall County was killed Wednesday in

Highway dept. cutback won't impact in city

Another major cutback of employees of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation will have no effect on Canyon, an Amarillo official said last week.

Ed Timmons of the Amarillo district office of the TDHPT said the local district began cutbacks on personnel last fall and summer.

"We did all our cutting at that time," he said. "This will have no effect."

The state department announced Thursday about 600 jobs in the department would be eliminated by Sept. 1.

Since Sept. 1, 1975, the department said, about 2200 jobs have been eliminated in the department's effort to level off expenditures

Older women students find dorm life satisfactory

For Molly Saunders, returning to college is the fulfillment of a promise. Karen Berkhart found one of her biggest rewards not in class but at home and for Viva Sewell, this is the last leg on a goal.

They are three of the many mature students who come each summer to WTSU to acquire additional degrees, qualify for teacher certification or for other reasons. But unlike most, they have chosen to live in the dormitory with their younger classmates.

"I like it better in a dorm," said Mrs. Berkhart, 35. "I don't like to cook or clean house. I just want to be able to study. I make better grades living in the dorm."

This is the second summer she has moved on campus for a session. A teacher in Perryton, she is working on certification at the secondary level.

To come for the first session, she has left at home a husband and Gena, 16 and Kenna, 14 — two teenaged daughters.

"Last year was the first time I had done this," she said. "My older daughter was 15

Bicentennial echoes from the past

Before 1870 the buffalo had little commercial importance to white men except for a limited trade in buffalo robes which were commonly used to protect passengers in horse drawn vehicles during winter weather. Trade in buffalo robes was rather well confined to the northern Plains, however, and white men participated largely as traders, not as hunters. During the winter of 1870-71, however, both English and New York tanners learned to tan buffalo hides and immediately a market for them opened. Young frontiersmen around Fort Hayes and Fort Dodge, in western Kansas, rushed immediately into the buffalo range to collect hides and began one of the shortest and most drastic episodes in the American frontier experience: the destruction of the buffalo.

herds. So successful were the Kansas hunters, in fact, that in less than three years the herds of western Kansas were so depleted that hunting there was no longer profitable. Foreseeing that the days of Kansas hunting were almost gone, J. Wright Moorhead and John Webb scouted the Texas Panhandle in the summer of 1873. They proved what they certainly already knew: that the Panhandle was rich in buffalo. Hunting in western Kansas had been relatively easy, but its dislocation from supply points and its isolation rendered the Panhandle a far more difficult and hazardous hunting ground. Nevertheless, in September 1873, Moor and his brother John W. Moor, led a hunting party to the Canadian River and established a hunting camp in present Roberts County. About two months later, a couple of hunters known only as "Lanier and Wheeler" took a position about ten miles east of the Moorhead brothers. In December, James Hamilton Cator and Robert Cator, lately arrived from England, built a hunter's dugout on the Palo Duro Creek in present Hansford County. Within a few weeks numerous others followed and by the middle of summer two to three hundred people were hunting buffalo in the Texas Panhandle. The disadvantages of hunting such a great distance from a market and source of supplies was mitigated when merchants from Dodge City, A.C. Myers and Charles O'Keefe; and James Harrah, a saloonkeeper, established trading post on the Canadian River in Hutchinson County.

buffalo found ample grass, water, and protection. The greater part of the buffalo hunt therefore occurred in the eastern Panhandle and especially along the better streams of the area: Wolf and Palo Duro creeks of Lipscomb and Hansford counties respectively, and the divide between them; the tributaries of the Canadian; Sweetwater Creek in Wheeler County; and such southern Panhandle streams as Mulberry and Quitaque creeks.

Buffalo hunting parties might consist of only three or four men but sometimes included as many as a dozen. The whole enterprise depended upon the hunter, his marksmanship, and knowledge of buffalo lore. Skippers performed the onerous chore of skinning the animal, and a large party included a camp "rustler" who did the cooking and such as buffalo required large caliber, heavy slugs to put them down and the preferred hunter's weapon was a .50 caliber Sharps rifle — the "Big Fifth." Doubtless many hunters could not afford a Sharps and used whatever weapon they could acquire.

Some evidence suggests that buffalo hunters were rather looked down upon as being on the bottom rung of frontier society, and the passing of years has done little to elevate their reputation. Actually, the hide men played a significant role — although a short and unglamorous one — in opening the Texas Panhandle to settlement and the oft repeated charge that they were nothing but wanton butchers of wildlife really isn't fair. They made pretense of sportsmanship; hunting buffalo was a business, not something undertaken for fun. If one wants to deplore the slaughter of the buffalo there is certainly much to be said for that point of view, but the men who killed them should not be singled out as exceptionally iniquitous for they were very much within the accepted economic and moral standards of the American society of their time. Besides, in clearing away the buffalo, the hunters prepared the way for the more stable enterprises of ranching and farming. There is little chance that either of these businesses could have flourished in the Panhandle with large numbers of wild buffalo around simply because the buffalo would have competed with cattle for grass and could not have been fenced out of cultivated fields. In short, the buffalo's misfortune was that he could not adapt to the changed environment wrought by white men and was doomed. And, of course, it never occurred to white men to limit their own institutions so as to preserve the total environment they found when they arrived.

But the hidemen contributed positively, too. The first Panhandle town, Mobeetie, originated as "Hidetown" and it was from Mobeetie that much Panhandle settlement and political organization emanated. The buffalo hunters were the first Americans who entered the Panhandle for a purpose indigenous to the region; may be said to have comprised its first Anglo-American population; and several remained to become civic and business leaders.

Among students of western American history, it has long been almost holy writ that the killing of the buffalo destroyed the Plains Indians. Indeed the Indians' attack upon Adobe Walls is evidence of their umbrage, but it is going too far to say that the Indians threw in the towel because of the destruction of the buffalo. Severely crippled though they may have been by the disappearance of the buffalo, this proud race of Americans accepted the hated reservations primarily because they were defeated militarily by another breed of white frontiersmen: the soldiers of the U.S. Army.

GREETINGS:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear and answer before the Honorable District Court, 181st Judicial District, Randall County, Texas, at the Courthouse of said county in Canyon, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of 20 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of Carl Thomas Goodrich and Amelia Ann Goodrich, Petitioner(s), filed in said Court on the 9th day of June, 1976, against James L. Brooks and Elizabeth Ward Strickland Brook Gray, Respondent(s), and said suit being numbered 15,757-B on the docket of said Court, and entitled 'In the Interest of Deborah Anne Brooks, a Child,' the nature of which suit is a request to terminate the parent-child relationship. Said child was born the 26th day of May, 1966, in Dillon, Dillon County, South Carolina. ISSUED AND GIVEN under my hand and seal of said Court at Canyon, Texas, this 9th day of June, 1976.

has suspended activity in the case until the court of civil appeals makes a ruling on whether the suit must be tried in Randall County.

If the appeals court upholds Poff's ruling, Wilcox said, Randall County will carry on as it would have otherwise.

If, on the other hand, the appeals court rules in favor of Randall County, Wilcox said, he will begin fighting the case separately in the county.

Dr. Donald Todd, a West Texas State University violin professor, is a primary plaintiff in the suit. Another Randall County resident, Fletcher Sims, who lives northwest of Canyon, is also a plaintiff.

Van Grove is the artistic director for the Inspiration Point Fine Arts Colony Opera Workshop of Eureka Springs, Arkansas where he has served for 19 years and is known for his development of student talent into internationally famous opera and concert singers.

Directing the eleventh season of "TEXAS" are Margaret and William A. Moore, who have served as directors for the show since its opening in 1966. The combined academic talents of the two directors have provided many successful dramas and musicals at West Texas State University for many years along with the continuing success of "TEXAS."

then and we got her a hardship driver's license. She and her sister, who was 13 took care of the house and did the laundry, fixed lunch and dinner and my older daughter also took care of farm errands.

"Their father didn't know that they could take over responsibility like that. He doesn't see them do their household chores during the week and he was amazed. He gained a new respect for what they could do.

"I knew they could handle it, but they did a much better job than I expected," she said. "That may have been my biggest reward."

At Cross Hall, she shares a room with a younger student who is majoring in elementary education, although she had requested a private room.

Their schedules differ, she said, so she rarely sees her roommate and the living and studying arrangements have caused no difficulty.

She enjoys being around the younger students.

"If you don't try to get with them, then you become old," she said. "I love the kids. In them I see the future. If I weren't with the children, I'd be a dried up old lady anyway."

Mrs. Saunders, 65, is making a promise come true.

"I promised myself that when I retired, my first vacation would be a summer term to take fun things," she said. "I always used to drool as I walked by the art rooms and saw all those beautiful things. So here I am. I can't draw and don't know a thing about it, but I'm taking water colors and creative hobbies."

Mrs. Saunders, who lives in Burleson with her daughter, also a teacher, retired from teaching several years ago. She first entered WTSU in 1928 and returned for her bachelor's degree in 1947. She completed her master's here in 1954.

When she first announced her intention to return to college, she had to face the curiosity of her friends.

"Everyone at home felt it was a silly thing to come here," she said. "Everyone here seems to think it's all right."

She has a private room, but sees her fellow dorm dwellers frequently.

"The little girls here in the dorm have been so sweet to me. I kinda felt funny at first. I felt like they would avoid me because I'm old. But they have been so nice."

She goes to classes from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. without a lunch break.

a vehicle-related accident at the lot.

Guyle Earl Cavin, 47, of Amarillo, was pronounced dead at the scene about 1 p.m. by Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson.

Wilson said Cavin was working on the hydraulic system of a dump grain trailer when the trailer fell, pinning Cavin's head between the trailer bed and the frame.

Cavin was found by an employee, Mrs. Bell Lackey, Wilson said.

Cavin was co-owner and manager of Southwest Pork Feedlot located about six miles northwest of Canyon.

The accident was investigated by DPS Patrolman Jim Humphreys and the Randall County sheriff's office.

Two wrecks at opposite ends of the county early Thursday resulted in minor injuries to eight persons.

Rudy Rios, 30, of Plainview, the driver of a northbound semi-truck-trailer rig, was injured about 6 a.m. Thursday when his truck left the northbound lane of U.S. 87 just north of Canyon and plunged into a shallow creekbed under the highway.

Rios was listed in satisfactory condition Friday at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo where he was taken for treatment.

DPS Patrolman Joe Sanders said Rios told him the trailer began shifting as he started to begin the ascent up Buffalo Bowl hill north of Canyon, causing him to lose control and plummet into a deep barrow ditch which divides the main highway lanes from the west access road.

The rig landed upside down in muddy water in a creekbed under the highway.

Seven persons sustained minor injuries about 8 a.m. Thursday in a two-car crash at Happy.

Sanders said the accident occurred at the intersection of FM 1541 and 1075 in Happy.

He said Brenda Fay Parker, 16, of Happy apparently ran a stop sign at the intersection and was rammed by a vehicle driven by Tommy Joe Everett, 20, of Plainview.

Miss Parker, her sister, Deborah, Everett and four others in his vehicle were treated for minor injuries at Neblett Clinic in Canyon.

Cutback. . .

to meet rising costs of highway work.

The number of highway department employees has declined since a 1972 peak when many interstate highway construction projects were underway throughout the state.

State-wide, the department's work force has dropped from about 20,000 persons in 1972 to 14,800 by Sept. 1.

Another 800 jobs must be eliminated by next year, according to the state department, unless additional revenues are made available to offset inflation.

Director Luther DeBerry said if the cutback is necessary next year jobs will be trimmed across the range of department positions, including professional as well as non-professional workers.

The Canyon office of the state highway department experienced cutbacks in personnel last fall due to the funds shortage at the state level.

A state-wide study is now being conducted by a private consulting firm to determine needs and priorities in the department. Results of the study are to be made public in mid-summer.

at their regular meeting here Monday night.

Black said the directors will attempt to formalize a full schedule of events for the July 3 celebration during the meeting.

The chamber is coordinating the day's activities along with the Randall County-City of Canyon Bicentennial Committee.

A full day of activities have been planned so far by both groups, to include the parade, barbecue, fireworks, flag-raising, and displays and exhibits.

The chamber directors will meet at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the community center.

Mosquito killing is costing more

If the rainy weather continues, the city may end the summer with a deficit in their budget for mosquito spray.

About $1,500 is set aside this year for spraying, city manager Glen Metcalf said.

"If it's going to be a year like it's already started, we'll go over what we budgeted," he said.

The city has been spraying weekly, Metcalf said. More mosquitoes hatch several days after a rain, he explained, so the rainy days of late May and early June have necessitated more frequent spraying than usual.

Tidbits on beef accent placemats

Several "beef tidbits" are printed on the placemats being distributed to local organizations by the Happy Cowbells as a part of the annual Father's Day promotion alerting consumers to the benefits of homegrown beef.

Among the placemat beef tidbits are the following notations:

"DID YOU KNOW..."

"The first 'beef on the hoof' in what is now the United States appeared in the great southwest, arriving with Francisco Vasquez de Coronado in 1540. Actual stock breeding got under way by 1598.

"Cattle landed on the east coast in 1624 — just four years after the Mayflower. It was officially noted by Governor Bradford of Plymouth Colony in his log: 'brought 3 heifers and a bull, the beginning of any cattle of that kind in the land.'

"George Washington was one of our nation's early cattle producers. He was continually experimenting to produce beef more efficiently. One notable experiment fattened cattle on different feeds to find the best and least expensive method of stall-feeding beef for market and his own table.

"Cow pastures were once an important part of any town's urban development. In fact, most of the early colonial towns were laid out with a village green to provide pasture for the 'common' good. That's how Boston Common got its name in 1634.

"Thomas Jefferson was our first gourmet president. One of his innovations was 'French fries' with his beefsteak.

"Cattle were so important in early Texas that when it was admitted to the Union, one wit remarked: 'Other states were carved or born, Texas grew from hide and horn.'

"Some of the best beef meals ever came out of a wagon — the

Father's promotion features drawings

It's time to draw a picture of dad for all Canyon-Randall County youths under the age of 12 years in a new contest being sponsored by a number of city merchants.

The drawings, on plain typing paper (8 1/2 x 11), will be judged with a variety of prizes to be awarded the winners in age categories including: 1-4, 5-8, and 9-12. Prizes will go to the 8 best drawings in each category with only one entry allowed per child.

The "dads" will be displayed in the business windows of participating merchants with all entries due to be turned into the merchant no later than Tuesday, June 15. Judging will be conducted on June 18 and winners are to be notified on Saturday morning, June 19.

Entries should be limited to Dad from the neck up and should be presented on solid white paper measuring 8 1/2 x 11. All entries should be outlined with a dark color to allow for better newspaper production and should fill the total page. The back of each entry must have the following information: entrant's name, address, phone number and age, along with the name of the favorite dad.

Merchants (where entries are to be turned in) include: Richardson Farm Supply at Umlinger, Carriage House Shoes, The Furniture Galleries, Dan's

Wedding gifts presented

Yellow daisies and baby's breath decorated the serving table for a morning shower on June 5 honoring Miss Mendy Sternberg, bride-elect of James David Alair.

The couple plans to marry July 2.

The shower was held at the home of Mrs. J. Manly Bryan at 2 Bramblewood Lane, Canyon, with guests being received by the hostess and honoree along with Mrs. Bill Sternberg, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Thomas E. Alair of Springlake, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Accenting the floral arrangement on the serving table were brass and crystal appointments as the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Ed Woodard of Dimmitt, served guests and Mrs. Al Sternberg, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Vance Robinson presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Jan Keeling with assistance from Stephanie Sternberg, niece of the bride.

Mrs. John Harper and Martha Harper left Thursday morning to return to Colorado where Mrs. John Harper will join her husband in Wellington and Miss Harper will return to Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

Claire Kuehn, left, archivist-librarian for the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum accepts a set of bicentennial spoons from Betty Markham, projects chairman and member of the hospitality committee for the PPHM volunteer auxiliary group.

Bicentennial spoon set given museum

Bicentennial teaspoons were presented to the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum this week by the membership of the Volunteer Auxiliary at the museum.

The special spoons and display rack were purchased by the auxiliary to be used and displayed at the museum. The 13- spoon set represents the original colonies of the United States and each spoon is individually engraved with the seal of a colony, the name of the colony at statehood and its entry date into the union of states.

The obverse side of the spoon handles bear crossed flags representing the current 50 state flag of the United States along with the design of the original 13 colony flag.

Chapel ceremonies are performed

Mrs. Philip Jon Corbin
nee Debra Arlene Saunders

Miss Debra Arlene Saunders and Dr. Philip Jon Corbin exchanged double ring vows of marriage Monday morning, June 7, at the Chapel of Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Dr. Clifford Trotter, Polk Street Methodist minister, officiated at the nuptial exchange. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mark Saunders and the late Mr. Saunders of 3431 Amherst, Amarillo, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max W. Corbin of 1605 S. Milam, Amarillo.

Altar arrangements featured white gladioli, cushion mums and carnations with candelabrum flanking each side of the altar. Organist was Wayne Pittner and candelighters were Kimberly Saunders and Kristin Saunders of Mustang, Okla., nieces of the bride. They wore apricot colored long dresses of eyelet with accenting ivory colored satin ribbon at the empire waists.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her brother, Joe Saunders of Mustang, Okla., the bride chose a formal gown of candlelight satin and alencon lace designed with a Victorian collar seeded with pearls. The closely fitted lace bodice was enhanced with pearls forming flowers and scallops. Strands of pearls accented the lace motifs of the long tapered sleeves which was closed at the wrists with tiny self-fabric buttons. The A-line styled wedding skirt was framed with a lace edged hemline seeded with pearls which swept to back fullness and cascaded into a full chapel train. She wore a matching lace mantilla held in place by a coil of bridal lace. A nosegay bouquet of white roses with baby's breath and stephanotis was carried by the bride and highlighted with a candlelight satin ribbon.

The bride's sister-in-law, Sherry Saunders of Plainview, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor length dress of apricot knit with V-neck styling which flowed into capelet sleeves and flowed softly over the shoulder. A self-fabric sash accented the empire waist and the circular skirt fell unadorned to the hemline as she carried a bouquet of apricot carnations and baby's breath for the event.

Marriage rites solemnized

Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church of Amarillo was the setting Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock as Miss Billie Helene Hill and Robert Larry Goetsch exchanged double ring marriage vows with Rev. O.W. Soustad, Lutheran minister from Waco, officiating.

Miss Hill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hill of 504 8th Avenue, Canyon, was the valedictorian of the 1969 Canyon High School graduating class. She earned her degree from West Texas State University in 1972 and was a member of Alpha Chi Honor Society, Kappa Delta Pi Education Honor Society, Sigma Tau Delta English Honor Society and Sigma Delta Pi Spanish Honor Society. For the past four years, Miss Hill has been employed with the Briscoe Independent School District as secondary English and Spanish teacher.

The bridegroom, Robert Larry Goetsch who resides at 2011 First Avenue, Canyon, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Goetsch, south of Amarillo. He is a 1969 graduate of Canyon High School and holds a degree from West Texas State University. Presently he is completing the Master's Degree in agri-business and is employed as an agricultural representative for the Diamond Shamrock Corporation of Amarillo.

Organ selections were presented by Miss Becky Hall of Amarillo and as guests were being seated, selections including Whither Thou Goest, and Shubert's Ave Maria. The prelude was Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring and the traditional wedding marches were used.

The sanctuary was decorated with matching urns of white gladioli at the altar next to two white altar candles. Lighting the candles was Marvin Hill of Canyon.

For her wedding, the bride chose an empire bodice with scooped neckline accented with Venise lace daisies featuring long sleeves of organza with a deep ruffle circle and accent trim of Venise lace daisies. The dress had a floorlength full skirt of white organza and she wore a long mantilla veil of nylon illusion trimmed with matching lace. The long wedding veil and short blusher veil were held to a pillbox hat as the bride carried a spring bouquet of white daisies. The traditions of marriage were carried out as the bride had a handkerchief edged with lace and made by her maternal grandmother as "something old," chose her wedding dress as "something new," had a coin minted the year of her birth in the bridal shoe as "something borrowed" and wore the traditional "blue" wedding garter.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Haley Burke of Canyon, served as matron of honor. She wore a dress of yellow dotted swiss styled with an empire bodice, scooped neckline and a full ruffle trimming. The floor length dress featured short butterfly sleeves and had a deep ruffle hem. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

The bridegroom's cousin, John Fox of Happy, served as best man and wore a black tuxedo with a light blue shirt. Ushering were Robert Lee Fox of New Braunfels, a cousin of the bridegroom, and A.J. Peek of Canyon.

Mothers of the couple had corsages of yellow roses for the occasion. The bride's mother wore a street length light blue sheath dress with V-neckline and matching coat. The bridegroom's mother selected a pale blue street length dress with long sleeves, A-line skirt and matching jacket.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Goetsch, parents of the bridegroom, was held the evening previous to the wedding at Underwood's in Amarillo and the wedding reception following the ceremony was held in fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table, covered in white with a yellow net overlay, was centered with a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and complemented with crystal appointments. The wedding cake was a three-tiered arrangement iced in white with a Cana cross and entwined of wedding rings as the sole ornament. Surrounding the base of the cross was an arrangement of flowers.

Punch was served by Miss Carolyn Nicholson of Briscoe and cake was served by Miss Linda Gibson of Amarillo.

A natural linen cloth covered the bridegroom's table which was set with a silver service and centered with a bouquet of daisies. Serving dark fruit cake and coffee were the bridegroom's aunts, Mrs. Mitt Fox of Happy and Mrs. Mabel Fox of Amarillo.

Music was presented in the background at the piano by Miss Becky Hall during the reception, and Mrs. A.J. Peek registered guests. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Hubert Peery of Amarillo, Mrs. Babe Walberg and Mrs. Johnny Parker of Happy, Mrs. Nathan Watson of Canyon, Mrs. Burton Olsen of Gruver, Mrs. Rick DeArment of Wheeler, Mrs. Bruce Wright of Minot, North Dakota and Miss Nadine Thompson of Fargo, North Dakota.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico and will be establishing their home at 2011 First Avenue

Hawaiian honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Hogue are honeymooning in Hawaii following their marriage ceremony which was read Saturday afternoon, June 12, at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist Church parlor in Canyon.

Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremonies which united Mrs. Georgia Lee of 1121 Creekmore in matrimony with J. Kenneth Hogue of 1423 Yucca Drive, Dalhart.

The couple will be residing in Dalhart on return from their wedding trip. Mrs. Hogue is the daughter of Mrs. Clara Colebank of Tucumcari, N.M. and has been a vocational office education teacher co-ordinator for Canyon

Following the nuptial service, a reception honoring the couple was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Cooper, 1116 Hillcrest, Canyon. The host, Cooper, is a nephew of the bride.

Church ceremony solemnizes wedding vows

Mrs. Ricky Dugan
nee Colette McCarley

Close friends and family members observed the double ring marriage ceremony read Friday evening at the First Baptist Church of Happy by Rev. Paul Heil for Miss Colette McCarley and Ricky Dugan, both of Happy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McCarley of Happy and parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dugan, are also of Happy. The church altar featured two seven bract candelabrum bearing pink tapers with greenery accents and pink and burgundy bows. Live plants accented each side of the altar with baskets filled with white begonias. Large green palms with pink and burgundy ribbon decorated the piano and organ areas.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal floorlength wedding gown of Angelmist peau de soie re-embroidered with Venice lace over bridal taffeta which was designed with a V-neckline, long camelot sleeves and featured a Princess silhouette with full back. Inserts of lace, marked with tiny seed pearls, complimented the neckline, bodice and sleeves. The full back of the wedding gown ended in a sweeping chapel length wedding train. The veil of imported illusion, bordered with matching Venice lace, was held to a lace coif and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations, tiny pink and burgundy rosebuds and white daisies arranged with white lace and pink and burgundy streamers atop a white wedding Bible.

She wore her late grandmother Foster's wedding ring as "something old," had a pearl necklace which was a gift from her parents, as "something new"; carried a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Jo Bob Jones of Happy as "something borrowed"; and wore the traditional "blue" wedding garter along with having a lucky sixpence in her shoe.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Paula Heil and the bridegroom's sister, Cindy Dugan, was bridesmaid. Both wore identical floorlength gowns of pink double knit with white lace and burgundy ribbon trim. They carried long stemmed roses with pink and burgundy streamers and each had a pink spring hat trimmed to match their dresses.

Dee Ann McCarley, sister of the bride, carried two long stemmed red roses which the bride presented to the mothers during the ceremony and Jackie Ringo, cousin of the bride, served as flowergirl. They both wore floor length dresses of pink dotted swiss with lace and burgundy ribbon trimming and had small flower arrangements in their hair.

Wilkes Stevens of Canyon was best man and Randy Dugan, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. Bill McCarley, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer and ushering duties were handled by Donny Crow of Claude and Donnie Davis of Dimmitt.

Fellowship hall was the setting for the after-wedding reception where a three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with pink and burgundy flowers on white icing, was topped with a pair of white doves. A two branch candelabrum with pink tapers and a floral arrangement featuring pink carnations and burgundy rosebuds accented the white cloth covering the table. Pink and white napkins complemented the silver and crystal appointments as pink mints and salted nuts were also served.

Serving were Connie Hand, Megayla Thornton and Shannon

Heil. Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Danny White, Mrs. Carol Sims, Mrs. C.J. Greenfield, Mrs. Dozier Thornton, Mrs. Reed McDonald, Mrs. Clayton Devin and Mrs. Jo Bob Jones.

A steak supper at Al's Restaurant in Happy was held on rehearsal evening for the newlyweds and members of the wedding party with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dugan, parents of the bridegroom, as host couple for the evening.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast and will be making their home at 103 Pash Avenue, Happy. The bride wore a navy blue and white sundress with matching jacket complemented with a corsage of pink carnations, and tiny pink and red sweetheart roses as the couple left on their trip.

Rev. Bill Webb officiated at the marriage which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Pitt, 2614 10th Avenue, Canyon with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morris of 1900 E. Central.

The candlelight ceremony was read before a heart shaped candelabrum which was flanked with spiral candelabrum accented with greenery. The candelabrum arrangements were filled with mint green tapers and accented with a large centerpiece of mixed spring flowers. Family pews were marked with green and white ribbon and fresh greenery.

Wedding guests were registered by Diana Hill of Amarillo and ushered to seating by Wayne Pitt and Greg Pitt, brother's of the bride.

For her wedding, the bride selected a formal floor length wedding gown of Angelmist peau de soie re-embroidered with Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta styled with a high neckline, empire waist, long camelot sleeves and a semi-A-line silhouette full back. Inserts of lace enhanced the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the wedding gown with the full back ending in a sweeping chapel length train. Her wedding veil was held to a Juliet cap covered with coordinating Chantilly lace and accented with white pearls. Three tiers of pearls extended into the illusion forming a fingertip length wedding veil designed and made by the bride's mother.

Her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations, white daisies and white sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and carried on a white wedding Bible, which was a gift from her mother. The traditional marriage included "something old and borrowed" with a pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. P.O. Pitt, being used; "something new" being her wedding dress; the traditional wedding garter as "something blue" and a sixpence in the bride's shoe.

Each carried a nosegay of mixed pastel flowers.

Wayne Morris, father of the bridegroom, served as the best man, and the bride's brothers, Wayne Pitt and Greg Pitt, served as groomsmen.

Methodist Student Center on the university campus was the site for the wedding reception which followed. The bride's table was covered with a white scalloped linen cloth and accented with lace corners. Crystal candleholders with mint green tapers accented the table (See VOWS, Page 13)

What's Behind It? Saving Money

That's more important than ever these days. There are ways you can make sure that the energy you use in your new total electric home is used in the most efficient manner possible. So efficiently that you will save 40% or more on heating and cooling cost when compared to previously accepted standards for total electric construction.

WALLS in the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME conform to one of three options that make sure heat stays where you want it...outside in the summer and inside in the winter. Option #1 with 6" walls and R-19" insulation, Option #2 with tongue and grooved 3/4" styrofoam sheathing, 4" walls and R-11" insulation, or Option #3 with R-15" minimum insulation. Walls also have a vapor barrier of 6 mil. polyethylene or foil-backed sheetrock. Sill insulation or sill caulking between the bottom plate and the floor is required.

CEILING in the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME is insulated with R-30".

FLOORS (if pier and beam construction) are thoroughly insulated using R-13". In slab floors choose between Option #1, rigid urethane or styrofoam (3/4" minimum thickness) from top of floor along the outside edge of the slab down to the brick ledge, or Option #2 - pour vermiculite in the cavity between bricks and slab up to the top of the floor.

WINDOWS AND DOORS are weather-stripped and caulked. Double pane glass or storm windows and insulated core or storm doors also ensure energy efficiency. It is recommended that glass area not exceed 8% of floor space.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS include the use of cool fluorescent lighting, and a heating/cooling system like the heat pump that maximizes efficiency and an electronic air cleaner to be used with moving air systems.

Having Comfort

Yes, you can save money without sacrificing comfort. The total electric ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME is the way to save 40% or more of heating and cooling cost and still enjoy all the convenience available in a new home today. Call us this week for all the details.

*The "R" value in the guidelines indicates the "Installed Resistance" of the insulation to the flow of heat.

Federal program brings kids and jobs together

Randall County has more than a half million dollars for a federal work program that has more jobs than applicants.

The Manpower program provides summer jobs for students 14-18 years old whose family income falls within the program guidelines.

Presently, there are 37 teenagers in jobs with city and county government and other non-profit agencies. More applicants are being sought to fill vacancies.

A total of $788,633 is allotted to the program this year, which runs from June 1 to Sept. 30. This includes $152,633 that was not spent last summer and $2,323 that is left over from the year before that. The program is financed entirely by federal funds.

"It doesn't cost the county directly one cent," said County Judge Woody Pond, whose office administers the program.

The students are paid minimum wage of $2.30 an hour for a maximum of 40 hours a week. The program is designed for disadvantaged students with family income levels based on Department of Labor guidelines. A number of applicants have been turned down because their family income was too great, Pond said.

Pond said he would like to see the program expanded to include all incomes.

"The only way for young folks to work is for someone to give them the opportunity. So many times, employers want someone with experience and they can't get experience unless someone will give them a chance," he said.

"I think just because someone's father makes $15-20,000 a year, they should still be able to work at a job," he said.

Earlier this year, county commissioners expressed misgivings about the program and discussed not approving participation by the county. But Pond had some kind words for it this week.

"I think it's a real fine thing," he said. "Besides helping a boy or girl earn money, it teaches them the responsibility of a job, how to hold down a job and how to work, and work with people and follow out the instructions of a supervisor."

"And it also renders a service to the community," he went on. "It's just a real good program. But it needs to be expanded."

Students working on Manpower this summer are scattered among nine different agencies.

The city has Manpower workers for park maintenance, water department, and the library. The city summer recreation program administered by WTSU has eight workers assigned so far and four others are assigned to the Panhandle-Plains Museum.

Workers are also assigned to the schools, the Upward Bound program, Palo Duro Hospital, Senior Citizens Center, WTSU, Palo Duro Park, and "TEXAS."

One Manpower worker is Muriel Clack, a sophomore at WTSU who is paying her own way to school. She is employed 40 hours a week at the Canyon Senior Citizens Center as a "general do-everything" worker.

A social work major, she enjoys her job.

"I get a pleasure out of making them happy here and it's so easy to make them happy," she said.

Duties include coordinating the exercise program, helping in the office and with the Thursday night social and general cleaning around the center.

This is the first job for Frances Watson, 15, of Happy. She works two hours in the morning at the city water department office and her remaining hours in the library. She rides to work with her sister, who is working in the program at WTSU.

Next year, she will take typing in school, she said and her work this summer should help her. She said she might also take a library science course.

4th display set

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum will be exhibiting clothing fashions of early area residents at the Bicentennial Festival in Amarillo during the Fourth of July weekend.

Western souvenir art exhibit at city museum

Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon currently has an exhibit of original art by David Sanders, the feature artist for the 75 souvenir programs of "TEXAS".

The artist's creative talents were previously featured in the "TEXAS" souvenir program of 1974.

Sanders' artistic talents lie in the capturing of character traces of early Texas and the deep heritage portrayed in the faces of Cowboys, Indians, Mexicans and Texas Rangers who are pre-dominant in his work.

In 1969 Sanders illustrated the book "Rangers of Texas" for the Texan Press of Waco and his works are in such collections as the National Polled Hereford Association, The King Ranch of Kingsville, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Diamond M. Museum of Snyder, and in private art collections such as that owned by actor James Brolin of the show "Marcus Welby", by Darrell Royal of Austin, and by Governor Dolph Briscoe of Texas. His works are regularly on exhibit and for sale at Fort Fisher in Waco where a portion of proceeds are designated to museum improvements.

Sanders' paintings have also appeared in the Cattleman's Magazine and have been used as covers on three of the King Ranch Sales catalogues with a fourth cover contracted for the current year. Sanders, a native of San Antonio, studied at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos and has his studio located in Austin, Texas. He is the vice-chairman for the Texas Association of Professional Artists, of which he was one of the 12 founding members.

Thompsons celebrating second year in shoe business here

On June 15, 1974, Ken and Marion Thompson, with a lot of hope and hard work opened Carriage House Shoes located at 2304 4th Avenue here in Canyon.

The store can be honestly said to be a result of Much planning and a prior background of almost 13 years' experience with C. R. Anthony Company of which 7 years just prior were spent managing the store in Canyon.

Ken and Marion Thompson and their son, Grant, moved to Canyon in 1967 from Perryton. And in 1969, here in Canyon, their daughter, Christi, was born at Neblett Hospital. Grant has presently just completed the fifth grade and Christi the first grade at Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon.

Ken has been active in the Canyon Chamber of Commerce as director for two separate terms, is an active member of the Canyon Noon Lions Club and a past president of that civic group. He currently serves as Deputy District Governor in District 2T-1, covering the Texas Panhandle.

Ken is also active on the Canyon Board of City Development, and a present member of the City Planning and Zoning Commission and past member of the original Parks Board. For the past three years, Ken has also served on the vocational advisory committee for the Canyon Public Schools since its beginning and is a past district board member for Randall District Boy Scouts.

Marion is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in the Chi Upsilon chapter and serves actively with the Canyon Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The Thompson family also holds membership in the Canyon Hills Church of Christ.

To the Thompson family, Canyon is a permanent home because of the many friends and acquaintances made in the city and county.

In celebrating their second anniversary as owners of Carriage House Shoes, the Thompsons hope to embark on a new plateau of business success. Ken and Marion say that they "could not have had any level of success up to the present point without the support of many fine people in the Canyon Community."

Ken says that he went into business here with the idea of featuring the newest fashions in footwear and offering top quality brand name merchandise along with fair prices. Correct shoe fitting is a top priority at the Carriage House.

"Service is the most important thing we have to offer," says Ken who also "feels that selection and variety are very important."

Therefore, the Thompsons wish to invite all of Canyon to help them celebrate their 2nd anniversary in business here by coming in and shopping during their Second Anniversary at Carriage House Shoes.

Thousands expected during outdoor drama summer season

More than 770,000 persons have seen the stirring drama "TEXAS" since it was first opened in 1966. As in seasons past, this year's show will portray the story of a young farmer who challenges the existing cattle baron and the ever-changing Panhandle weather, to eke out an existence and ultimately found a new town in a barren wasteland.

Written by Paul Green, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, the drama centers on life in the high plains of Texas during the 1880's and has played to better than half a million people in past seasons.

The show includes specially written music, an awesome thunder and lightning storm scene, and magnificent lighting and sound against the 600 foot cliff which forms the backdrop for the outdoor stage of the Pioneer Amphitheatre.

Set amidst rugged rocks, with surrounding mesquite and yucca, the natural outdoor stage is located 12 miles east of Canyon, Texas in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The high plains park itself stretches 100 miles long and 1,000 feet deep in contrast with surrounding countryside that is level with waving grasses and wheat pasture.

The evening show is further enhanced with the availability of a true western feast as Supten's Barbecue of Amarillo nightly caters a pre-show meal featuring barbecue. Tickets for the barbecue are available at local concessions on the grounds of "TEXAS" and show visitors may also acquire numerous mementoes at the nearby concessions and gift shop areas.

Tickets to the drama are available through the "TEXAS" box office 806-655-2182 and at various business establishments in the Amarillo-Canyon area as well. With the expected onslaught of spectators this season, it is recommended that tickets be arranged for in advance of the evening performance desired.

Cast in the bicentennial season of "TEXAS" are numerous actors and actresses who are returning for additional theatrical experience with the summer drama. Leading roles for the '76 season have been assigned to: Ron Williams who will play the young farmer, Calvin Armstrong; Joe Anderson who is cast as Dave Newberry, the ranch foreman; Harrell Floyd who will be enacting the show as Uncle Henry, the headstrong cattle baron; Pamela Hurst who is cast as the lovely Miss Elsie; Patti Clabaugh who is a newcomer to the role of Kate Lucas; along with veteran cast members Jerry O. Williams who plays the comical Tucker Yeldell and Jane Lipscomb who portrays the ranching wife, Aunt Anna.

Taking the leading role of Calvin, for his second season, will be Ron Williams who is well known throughout the eastern part of New Mexico for past performances as a musician while attending Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

He graduated from West Texas State University last spring and spent six months in Hawaii working in the show "Happy 200-A Bicentennial Review." On return, Williams, who lives in Amarillo, spent several months in Los Angeles playing guitar and studying acting with Dr. Edward Wright.

He plans to enter professional theatre and will be following in the family tradition as his father, a well known guitar and bass fiddle player, is the former leader of the band "The Western Cavaliers" which played at the Avalon Ballroom in Amarillo for 26 years.

Beginning his third year with the "TEXAS" summer production in a lead role as the ranch foreman, Dave Newberry, will be Joe Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Anderson of Lovington, N.M.

Anderson recently scored a success playing John Adams in the spring production "1776" at West Texas State University where he has academic and applied scholarships. He is a member of honorary societies Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Phi Eta Sigma and has been a member of the WTSU student senate for two years.

His theatrical credits include appearances and roles in "South Pacific," "The Devil and Daniel Webster" and "Man From La Mancha" at West Texas State University where he received the "best supporting actor" awards for both 1975-76 and was selected to receive the Alpha Psi Omega Achievement Award in 1975.

Returning to the "TEXAS" cast for his sixth season as Uncle Henry, the headstrong cattle baron, is Harrell Floyd. In his role as Uncle Henry, Floyd will serve as master of ceremonies as the drama unfolds.

As in the past season, Floyd's oldest son will be playing the part of one of the Tatum children in the summer production. Floyd is a graduate of West Texas State University and formerly attended Hobbs Junior College.

New Mexico's influence on the early training of several "TEXAS" cast members is repeated in the show's leading lady, Pamela Hurst, who will be returning for her second season as the lovely Eastern bred Miss Elsie.

Miss Hurst formerly lived in Gallup, Aztec and Fort Sumner, N.M. and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hurst, now of Lubbock.

During her senior year at West Texas State University, Miss Hurst played the leading role of Alma Winemiller in the Tennessee Williams show "Summer and Smoke." In addition to receiving several awards for her work in University theatre, Miss Hurst is a member of Chi Omega, Buffalo Masquers, and the honorary dramatic fraternity, Alpha Chi Omega.

Other roles of Miss Hurst have included Agnes in "The Fourposter," Sister-Woman in "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof," Viola in "Twelfth Night" and Thea in "Hedda Gabler."

In her role as Kate Lucas, the belle of Mobeetie, Patti Clabaugh is the second newcomer of the '76 cast taking a leading role. She was an understudy for the role last summer and those who saw and heard her in the role occasionally were delighted with her expertise.

She is a spring graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford, Okla., where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, Women's Glee Club and the Choraliers. Her theatrical performances include roles in "Interview," "Guys and Dolls," "27 Wagons Full of Cotton" and "Threepenny Opera."

She was awarded the best actress honors for her part as Lucy in the production "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" in May.

"TEXAS" standby Jerry O. Williams will be returning for his ninth season as the comical lead playing Tucker Yeldell. A resident businessman in Canyon, Williams assists with difficult make-up for many Branding Iron Theatre productions at West Texas State University and for the summer drama.

He is the owner and manager for Williams Et Cetera in downtown Canyon, which specializes in gifts and antiques along with Williams' own line of handmade Cachaeros pottery. He has recently opened a second store in partnership with Hugh Greiner in Canyon Country, just outside of the entrance gates of the Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The new venture is called "The Great Pecos Valley and Northeast Railroad Trading Company" or "P. Vine" for short.

Williams is a member of the National Association of Dealers in Antiques, Appraisers Association of America and the National Retail Merchant's Association.

In addition to his business, Williams teaches speech pathology and audiology at West Texas State University and has served as a supervisor of speech pathology for the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center. He is also on the administrative board of the First United Methodist Church in Canyon.

Returning to "TEXAS" for her seventh season as Aunt Anna is Jane Lipscomb, who has given of her talents to the Amarillo Little Theatre for many years. She appeared in the ALT production "George M" in the fall of 1975 and was understudy for nationally known actress Ann Davis in the show "The Newlyweds" which was presented in Amarillo.

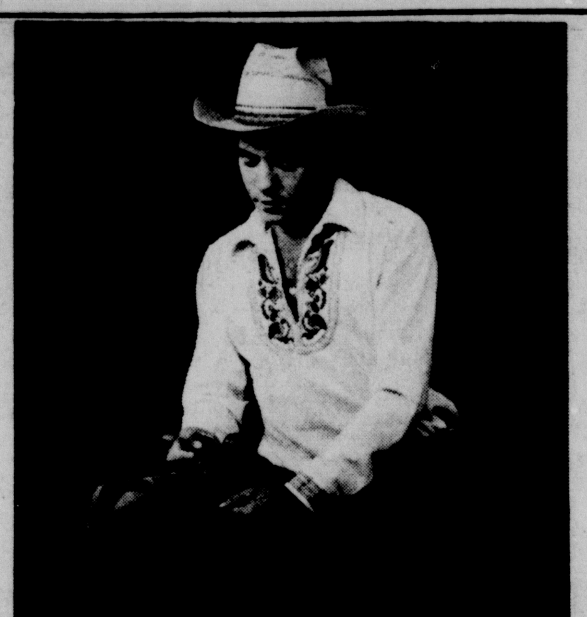

Mrs. Lipscomb is the wife and assistant to Dr. Joe Lipscomb and is a member of two ranching families, the Bivins and the Beverlys, thus knowing her role in the drama from the lives of her own pioneering family.

She received her BA degree from Texas Women's University and did graduate work at Columbia Teachers College in New York City, where she was a member of the Daltrey Opera Company. Barnes and Carruthers shows and was soloist for St. Luke's Episcopal Church. She also toured with the show "The Debutante."

Hospitality crewmen for "TEXAS" represent many area cities including Amarillo, Bovina, Dalhart, Dallas, El Paso, Pampa, and Seminole along with Boise City, Okla. In addition a good number of the hospitality crew are from Canyon including 17 local high school students and other residents.

Six members of the technical crew for the show this summer are from Canyon along with technical crewmen from several area cities.

Impressive marriage service read in city

Miss Rebecca Lynn Haley and James Wiley Harp exchanged double ring marriage vows in a ceremony Saturday evening, June 12, at the First United Methodist Church in Canyon with the Rev. Bill Kent, minister, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Charles Haley, Jr. 35 Village Drive, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Harp of Los Alamos, New Mexico, former residents of Canyon.

Centered with a 15 bracht arch candelabrum entwined with lemon foliage, the altar was flanked with matching urns atop white columns featuring arrangements of blue carnations, white daisies, baby's breath and gladioli. Pyramid candelabrum at each side accented with clusters of lemon foliage completed the altar.

The wedding service featured organ selections presented by Mrs. Myron Dees of Canyon. Traditional selections of Trumpet Voluntary by Purcell and Wedding March by Wagner were played as the bridal party entered the sanctuary, and the recessional was Wedding March by Mendelssohn. Charles Schwede of Canyon sang More and Time in a Bottle. Registering guests at identical registry tables were sisters of the bridegroom, Susan and Karen Harp of Los Alamos, New Mexico. They wore floor length dresses of blue with corsages of blue carnations.

Juliana Leveridge, niece of the bride, was the flowergirl. She wore a floor length dress in blue and white and had a bandeau of blue and white daisies in her hair. She carried a basket decorated in the bride's chosen colors and scattered rose petals before the bridal party.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of crystal silk organza designed with fitted natural bodice line with bands of wide lace over the shoulders, down the front and down the bodice back. It was fashioned with an open neckline with banded collar. The full circular skirt was overlaid at the waist with lace and was banded with a deep border of lace at the skirt's edge forming a sanctuary train. The bishop sleeves featured a band of lace below the elbow and was full and shirred to a fitted cuff. The tiered veil of illusion, using the same lace bands, was attached to a bride's bandeau of lace festooned with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet featured a cascade arrangement of white roses accented with baby's breath and centered with a gardenia corsage. She wore the traditional blue wedding garter and in her shoe was a penny minted the year of her birth.

Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Steve Tomlinson of Amarillo, Miss Sharon Hare of Canyon and Mrs. Robert Leveridge of Noble, Okla., sister of the bride. Their dresses were identical powder blue jersey with an empire bodice accented with a V-neckline tied with a string bow around a stand-up collar. The short butterfly sleeves accented the soft look of the floor length dresses. They wore white picture hats trimmed in powder blue ribbons, and carried nosegays of blue carnations and baby's breath centered with a red rose and tied with powder blue streamers.

Allan Grimes of Canyon served as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Barber of Phillips, Rick Park of Stinnett and Jim DeBerry of Abilene. Ushering were Dennis Haley of Greenbelt, Md., brother of the bride, Robert Leveridge of Noble, Okla., brother-in-law of the bride, Steven Harp of Los Alamos, Honored guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Poe and Mrs. Thalia Still all of Albuquerque, N.M. Mrs. Poe and Mrs. Still are great-aunts of the bridegroom.

The church parlor was the scene of a reception honoring the newlyweds. The serving table, laid with a blue satin and net cloth was centered with a silver epergne holding the bridal bouquet and surrounded with the attendants bouquets. The four tiered white wedding cake featured tiny blue bells and roses and was topped with large wedding bells. Mrs. Carroll Dozier of Amarillo, aunt of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Lane Cummings of Amarillo, aunt of the bride, presided at the crystal punch bowl. Mints and nuts were served from cut glass dishes.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Kenneth Waugh, Mrs. Tom Platt, Mrs. Vance Robinson, Mrs. Edith Priddy, Mrs. J.C. Bellah, Mrs. Lee Roy Moreland, Mrs. Jimmie Hall and Miss Mandy Sternberg.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride changed to an ice blue pantsuit accented with emerald and brocade flowers, which had been made by her mother. The belted set was accented with a corsage of baby roses and daisies.

The couple will make their home in Amarillo where the bridegroom is employed with W.W. Trailers as a welder. He attended Amarillo High School and the bride, a graduate of Canyon High School, is presently employed with Dr. D.L. Fong, M.D. and a senior student at Northwest Texas Hospital's School of Nursing.
